ENJOY THIS SESSION?
BRING IT TO YOUR SCHOOL OR EVENT.

Students are facing a high-paced, quickly-changing world. Teachers have the great opportunity to prepare students for a future we can't imagine yet. These are exciting times in education, and teachers have unique opportunities to engage students and lead them into that future.

Matt Miller has presented to hundreds of Indiana teachers on a number of educational technology subjects. He's on the Indiana Dept. of Education's eLearning Speakers Bureau. His presentations are known for being conversational and engaging. Participants leave with new ideas and incredibly thorough digital handouts with numerous links, videos and articles.

Possible session topics include: Ditch That Textbook! The Paperless Classroom; Teaching with Google Apps; Social Networks for Teachers; Educational Technology the Right Way; Connecting Classrooms to the World; Blogging for Students and Teachers; and Broadcast with Podcasts.

Contact Matt at matt@DitchThatTextbook.com to inquire about working with him at your school or event. Visit DitchThatTextbook.com/conferences for more info.

Matt writes about teaching with less reliance on the textbook with an emphasis on educational technology and creative teaching at DitchThatTextbook.com.
